Your Humour

A few years after I got married,
I realized one thing.

HUMOUR

It is that humour is very important in this relationship

Life it is not always sunny for 365 days,...

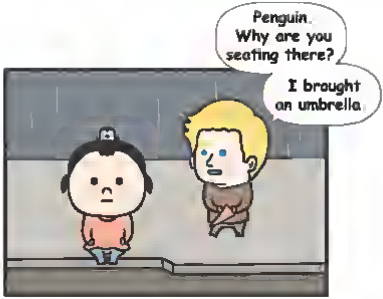
...we all sometimes meet rainy days.

Things don't always work out the way we want.

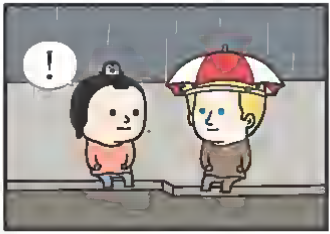
What's wrong with him?

Sometimes we make mistakes in our relationships.

Sometimes we think that our lives are going round and round like a rat's wheel.



In these moments,...



...our partners' humour
can bring us the energy we need to clear the darkness with light.

It doesn't matter how funny he is in others' eyes because we're always laughing together.

But there is a problem with this situotion.

I have a replay buttan on me.

When I ask him to do something that was funny again, ...

...his humour hides inside him.

Then one day
his humour came out again.

I asked him a favour.

Of course, he refused.

We repeated asking and refusing a couple more times.

Finally Mev shouted at me with a serious tone of voice.
